

RICHARD TAYLOR STABLES – BIO

Richard trained at one of the top drama schools in the UK; Arts Ed London, before working as a professional actor in film, television and theater throughout London, LA, NYC, Sydney and Melbourne. During his third year at drama school he also played a small role in George Lucas' 'Star Wars – The Phantom Menace'. He has trained with acting legends such as Ellen Burstyn, Larry Moss, Howard Fine, William Esper, Susan Batson, Joanna Merlin, Margie Habor and Cicely Berry (Head of Voice at the Royal Shakespeare Company, London). Richard founded three independent theater companies in Australia, acted in several Australian National TV Commercials, and starred in various award winning feature films and television series with such acting icons as, Hugo Weaving and Xavier Samuel in the feature 'Healing', Ben Mendelsohn in 'Tangle' for Showtime TV (HBO/Foxtel), and Craig McLachlan in 'The Doctor Blake Mysteries' which screens on ABC TV (Australia), BBC TV (UK) and PBS TV (USA). Richard also played the lead in the internationally award winning film 'Lily', directed by rising star Kasimir Burgess, winning the Crystal Bear Award for Best Film at the Berlin International Film Festival. 'Lily' screens regularly on ABC TV. He also recently played the lead in an Aussie/German co-production feature 'Wedgetail' that is about to hit the international film festival circuit and has already attracted a major film production company and distributor. When not acting Richard teaches Vedic Meditation.